In the Fall of 2016, Superintendent Dr. Brown will engage the community in a variety of locations throughout the school district. He will conduct one hour-long sessions, actively listening to community groups and taxpayers at a series of non-traditional venues. These community conversations offer an opportunity for the public to share visions of success regarding the Ithaca City School District. Community members will be asked a series of questions related to:

1. What skills do we wish for graduates of the ICSD to have? Why?
2. What do you want to see happen in Ithaca City School District classrooms?

The idea behind “community conversations” begins with a simple premise—our community is rich with ideas, thoughtful engagement, and strategies. Participants are asked to think differently- to propose creative ideas, propose effective problem-solving methods, and suggest untapped resources.
