News from and for the Community

2014 January - March

Free

"February is merely as long as is needed to pass the time until March."

- J.R. Stockton

Well then, a New Year has arrived!

Such promise of fun and fellowship as January begins, with the return of the Grange Breakfasts and the Fire Company Chicken Barbecues—yumm-o! I'm convinced there's no better place to chow down than at our community events, plus you get to spend some time with friends and neighbors!

There are some other great reasons to get out and around town this winter—check the schedule on page two and stop by the elementary school to catch our youth playing basketball, or stop by the Grange for some ping pong or crafting (see the Regularly Scheduled Meetings on page 8), or give JoAnne Huddle a call to find out how you can get involved with this year's Community Quilt. This year's fabric is once again beautiful, but very different from previous years.

Winter is a time of slow-down—often because the roads are such a mess! But as I look out the window at this winter wonderland, I consider who among us doesn't have this spectacular view. Have you bundled up the children or grandchildren and sent them out to play in the snow? Are there snow angels, snow men or snow forts in your yard? Have you strapped on some cross country skis, revved up the snow mobile, or added more food to the winter bird feeder? Many "city folk" don't have the blessing of watching the snow fall to the horizon, softly and silently. If you can spare a few minutes, just settle yourself by a window with a cup of cocoa and enjoy the season - because frankly, it's not going anywhere so we might as well find a way to appreciate it.

Do you have an idea that would help us get out of the house for a little adventure? In the past the Enfield Community Council has sponsored events like adult basketball and Zumba at the elementary school. If you've got an idea, call Cortney Bailey about bringing it to the Council. Chances are, there are other people with the same interests.

One of the things I've always appreciated about this community is the many different ways in which we come together—the way we build "community". Over the years I've had the chance to meet and make friends as part of many different groups—people coming together over common interests and common goals. I know many of you have had the same experience, but if you're someone who hasn't, consider finding a place during this coming year. It may seem impossible to find time for one more thing, but as it often turns out, the friends you make and the skills you learn more than make up for your time investment. There are short term opportunities, like helping with the annual harvest festival, to seasonal fun like helping with the basketball or little league teams, to monthly meetings for PTA, Grange or Community Council, to bi-weekly help with the Food Pantry, to the weekly commitment of the Fire Company. There IS a place for you, and your help would be welcome. Of course, there are things you can do right at home, like collect Box Tops for Education for the PTA, bake cakes for the cake wheel at the annual harvest festival, bake desserts for the Fire Company Auxiliary BBQ Bake Sales and desserts for the Grange Election Dinner.

In closing, please help me find the many small groups that thrive in our community—play groups, 4-H Clubs, Boy and Girl Scouts, etc. so that we can share their information in this newsletter. Call 277-4547 and leave me a message. Many thanks!

ECC Quilt

The Enfield Community Council's 2013 Harvest Festival quilt aptly named "Dragonflies in the Garden" was raffled off on October 5th. This year's lucky winner was Karen Coleman! A big "THANK YOU!" goes out to our community members who assisted with ticket sales; through your efforts each of you helped make this project a success again this year. Thank you to all of you who purchased tickets for a chance to win this beautiful quilt. It is through your continued support of this fun community project that the Enfield Community Council is able to support family and children programming within the Enfield community.

Warmly,
JoAnn Huddle, ECC Vice President

Enfield Elementary Basketball

Enfield has four basketball teams for the 2013-2014 season. There are girls and boys 4th and 5th grade teams. The teams are sponsored by the Enfield Community Council and the Enfield Volunteer Fire Company; the Community Council holds the insurance, pays the participation fee to the Youth Bureau, maintains all paperwork and coordination duties and is co-responsible with the Fire Company in the purchase of all uniforms and equipment and end of season party, trophies, and certificates.

Practices started at the beginning of December and games start on January 4. There will be some home games, see the schedule below. The coaches and assistant coaches are all volunteer parents. At home games there is a concession stand to raise additional funds; the concession stand is coordinated and staffed by player parent(s).

Enfield Summer Day Camp

I know, I know – it's snowing and I am writing about summer camp! This is a FYI for new families and new fee information for returning families.

The Enfield Community Council has a summer day camp program for children ages 4-13 years old. It is a 6-week program that begins on July 7 and ends August 15, 2014. It will be held at the Robert Treman State Park's lower level (the North Shelter Pavilion).

The campers start their day at 8:45 a.m. with a cold breakfast and have activities until 11:30 which is lunchtime (except for field trips, all lunches are hot food items). The daily activities include a combination of most of the following: sports, arts, science, sewing, cooking, journal writing, singing, hiking, literacy activities, swimming, outdoor education (the last activity is for campers 9 years old and up). We have access to open fields, creeks and the playground. There will be field trips to Hangar Theater, Sciencenter, Taughannock Park, Watkins Glen, miniature golf, Greenwood Park, bowling and some new trips.

All fees are per child as follows:

Base camp program (9:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.) $325 for all 6 weeks for Enfield residents and $400 for all 6 weeks for non-residents (includes park entrance pass)

Before camp care (7:30 a.m. – 8:45 a.m.) $150 for 1-5 days/week for 6 weeks

After camp care (3:00 p.m. – 5:30 p.m.) $200 for 1-5 days/week for 6 weeks for Enfield residents and $225 for non-residents.

The Community Council is offering a prepay reduced rate for the BASE FEE ONLY. If the base fee is paid by May 31 the fee is $15 less (Residents $310/child and Non-Residents $385/child).

Completed applications and all fees are due in by June 15 to guarantee space at camp. If you want to start to make payments several months before the start of camp please contact me to make arrangements. If you currently receive temporary assistance or need help with the cost of childcare, you may be eligible for assistance through DSS. Please contact Vera Howe-Strait or DSS, 274-5677, for further information. The DSS acceptance letter must be received by Vera before camp starts.

The Enfield Community Council strives to provide activities that are free or low cost. It is our goal that no one is turned away because of the inability to pay. Please contact Vera if there are any issues regarding income and/or ability to pay.

Camp applications will be available at the Enfield Elementary School Main Office, Enfield After School Program, Enfield Town Clerk's Office, townofenfield.org, and Dandy Mart (formerly Valley Corner Store) after March 31, 2014. Please contact me with questions, concerns and/or application at 274-2368 (2:00 p.m. – 5:30 p.m.) or email vstrait18@htva.net

Thanksgiving 2014 in our New Community Building

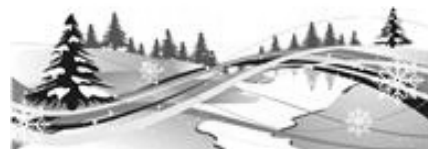

The Enfield Community Council, a not-for-profit corporation, which does programming for the youth and residents of our community, is moving along in its plans to build a new community building to expand our ability to provide programming to the residents of Enfield. We have hired Noah Demerest of Stream, Collaborative as our architect. He will produce architect renderings of the building, a floor plan to submit for a building permit and coordinate construction details. John Anderson, PE is doing a septic plan for us and David Dietrich, partner in Moosewood and Enfield resident is creating the plans for our certified kitchen. Torri Bennington, graphic artist, has agreed to help us with a fundraising brochure. Carrie Pollack of Miller, Mayer is giving us legal advice. Committee members are approaching the USDA and local lenders about a mortgage. Fund raising will begin soon.

In looking into siting for our building, we were very interested in putting this building in the center of Enfield. We approached a landowner who did not want to sell us land in a central area. We then approached the Ithaca City School District about using part of the Elementary School land. They were very excited about partnering in our project. We plan to enter into a long term lease agreement with the ICSD for part of the land to the south of the school building on which to build the community center. As a plus, this will not take more land off the tax rolls.

We'll be asking community members to add their skills to our building as we finalize our plans. Stay tuned and look forward to a community Thanksgiving this November!

Enfield Connects

There's a new way to connect with your neighbors in Enfield! A Google Group has been set up for residents of the Town of Enfield to connect with one another and share news, events, and information relevant to our town. This group is NOT affiliated with town government or any Enfield organization, but is a network of neighbors who live in Enfield and wish to be tuned in to our community. We hope to provide a place for residents to share and learn and engage with one another. To request more information, or to join the group, please email enfieldconnects@gmail.com for information on how to get connected. Hope to see you there!

A few odds and ends of Enfield History Sue Thompson, Enfield Town Historian

In 1896 there were two women listed as "Postmaster" in Tompkins County. Deborah Earl Budd was postmaster of the Enfield Falls Post Office and Mrs. Ella Drake of Myers, NY. Deborah's parents were John and Mehitable Ganoung Earl. She had 8 siblings, according to various years of the Federal U.S. Census. In 1882 Deborah and her husband Charles used the parlor of their home as the post office. Charles Budd was listed as Postmaster in 1882. After Charles death in 1896, Deborah was appointed Postmaster. This post office was open until 1902. Deborah died March 15, 1903 at their family home in Enfield Falls. Deborah and Charles are buried at Grove Cemetery in Trumansburg. Deborah was one of a small but growing number of women postmasters in the United States. A more complete history of Women in the U.S. Postal System can be found at: http://postalmuseum.si.edu/WomenHistory/women_history/history_reconstruction.html

A word from the Enfield Town Board Minutes – April 1915 - A letter from the State Board of health was presented and read involving suggestions for a "cleanup" day (April 22) and offering many suggestions. Chair appointed Fred G. Rumsey and Harry Havens as a committee to take charge of House Cleaning. Health Officer, Dr. David Robb, to draft suggestions in the form of a notice with such other helps as he may add for the benefit of this special committee in regard to its health conditions. Town Clerk, Devoe Rumsey, be instructed to have printed and mailed to each householder of the town a copy of the notice. Carried and moved. According to the Reading Times, Pennsylvania on April 22, 1915, there was a national call for more attractive surroundings and better health in communities through the U.S.. They referred to diphtheria and other health ailments in the article.

June 24, 1905 a special meeting of the Town Board was called for. The purpose of the meeting was discussing fixing roads that had been washed out in the town. A Committee of two was appointed to carry out road repair decisions. Three days before June 21, 1905, it rain heavily in Tompkins County. On the 21st a heavy rain storm passed over the south-central part of New York State. Flooding destroyed roadways and bridges in Enfield, Newfield (destroyed highways and 7 bridges), and Dryden. In Ithaca the waters of Six Mile Creek rushed down upon the city carrying away dams, bridges and filling many dwelling houses with water. There was over $100,000 worth of damage in Ithaca.

BF 203: Holistic Financial Planning: Building Profit into the Picture

Jan. 14 - Feb 18. "The Holistic Management Framework--sorting expenses, planning for profit, and identifying logjams and weak links--has provided the biggest insights for me. I'm pretty good with numbers and spreadsheets, but the course gave me tools to think about the numbers and understand what they are telling me." -farmer participant from 2012 BF 203 course. If you complete the course you will: Have a written statement of your family's values and vision and know how to use it to guide financial and overall farm decision-making. Have a written Annual Financial Plan mapping out your planned profit, income streams, and expenses (this plan doubles as a cash-flow statement in your business plan and is one of the main documents a lender will want to see). Understand that all expenses are not created equally, and how to prioritize and cut them. Know how to monitor your plan so that you can correct your course when you start to go off-plan. While helpful, no prior experience with Holistic Management is required! The course runs Tues. Jan. 14 - Feb 18, with webinars once weekly on Tues. evenings from 6:30-8:00pm EST. The cost is $200, and multiple people from the same farm may participate without paying extra. See <http://nebeginningfarmers.org/online-courses/all-courses/holistic-financial-planning-bf-203> for more on the course learning objectives, instructors, and outline. BF 203: Holistic Financial Planning: Planning for Profit is part of the line-up of 12 online courses offered this Fall, Winter and Spring by the Cornell Small Farms Program. The Tax Tips For Forest Landowners For The 2013 Tax Year Is Now Available!

Well managed forests produce timber and other forest products, provide wildlife habitat, recreational opportunities, aquifer and watershed protection, and other amenities. Non-industrial private woodlands comprise approximately 60% of the nation's total forests. Providing tailored tax information is one way in which the Forest Service is working to increase forest productivity on non-industrial forest lands. Biological Control of Stink Bugs

Growers who use biological control methods could stop brown marmorated stink bug (BMSB), reduce costs, and put fewer chemicals into the environment. Learn to identify several native predators and parasitoids of BMSB in various crops and nurseries. Using less insecticide could help these natural enemies of BMSB. Methods such as cultural controls, trap cropping, and monitoring as part of a biological control strategy could keep BMSB populations in check. See the new video on Biological Control of BMSB: <http://www.stopbmsb.org/video>

Enfield Ladies Auxiliary

The Auxiliary has had a busy fall season. In September, we ran the cake wheel at the Enfield Community Council Harvest Festival. All proceeds of this endeavor were for the Community Council and we thank everyone who dropped off a cake, jam, cupcakes or cider to be used as the day progressed. Also in September, we catered the UAW picnic for Cornell at lower Treman Park. It was our first experience at catering and was well received.

In October, we held our election of officers. Jessica Elliott was elected president; Doreen Lauper is our Vice President, Sue Howser, secretary and Pam Whittaker, treasurer. Our annual banquet was at Stella's Barn.

In December, we are donating to the Enfield Schools Christmas Basket activity for the children of Enfield. What better way to insure the children have a wonderful holiday season?

We will once again be helping out the Fire Company during their Chicken BBQ's which will start on January 12. You can call to reserve your dinners or halves by calling the fire company that morning. We will be running our Bake Sale as before, so be ready for some great treats.

We are, of course, always looking for new members. You can contact any auxiliary member for information.

We all hope you have a wonderful holiday season and a joyful and fulfilling new year. Stay safe.
